VLAD:

There is an infinite way in music, which brings certain satisfaction by it's each stage. The search of an absolute sound, the cleanest emotion, transparent feeling which is impossible to transfer in any other way. We find ourselves in music, in music we lose ourselves. Someone finds his unique face. Someone loses the last. It's an amazing process in which the role of everyone is important.

Working closely with the diversified set of musical genres, nowadays in my life I prefer to express my emotions in house and techno. But that doesn't prevent me from improvisation with another cultures. My true temptation stays in funk/soul/disco - I introduce these musical tendencies to the newest electronic technologies to propagandise the love to the contemporary music beauty.

If you ask me how I wish to develop my career, I shall say: I'd like to pass all steps one by one. Feel the delights of each certain episode in formation of my own person in music and in life, to keep and to understand myself better. I am assured this process never stops.
